DONGZHI

冬至

STUST OIA

冬至 (DONGZHI)

- Winter Solstice (Dongzhi) is an important traditional festival celebrated in East Asian cultures. It marks the shortest day and the longest night of the year in the Northern Hemisphere.
- The date of Dongzhi this year is 21st December, 2024.

FOODS IN 冬至 (DONGZHI)

- The Winter Solstice has been celebrated for over 2,000 years. It's a time when families come together to enjoy special foods and honor the cycle of nature.
- One of the most famous customs is eating 湯圓 (tangyuan), which are sweet glutinous rice balls symbolizing family unity and harmony.
- In some regions, people also eat 餃子 (jiaozi), dumplings, to bring good fortune for the coming year.

CELEBRATIONS IN 冬至 (DONGZHI)

- In ancient times, the Winter Solstice was seen as a time to restore balance, as after the solstice, the days begin to grow longer again, symbolizing the return of light and warmth. It's a celebration of renewal and hope for the future.
- In modern times, many people also view Dongzhi as an occasion for family gatherings, similar to how Western cultures celebrate Thanksgiving or Christmas.
