About International Foundation Program (IFP)

Program Structure:

- 5 Years (1-Year Mandarin Program + 4-Year Bachelor's Degree Program)
- Year 1: Intensive Mandarin Language Program (15 hours per week, totaling 720 hours)

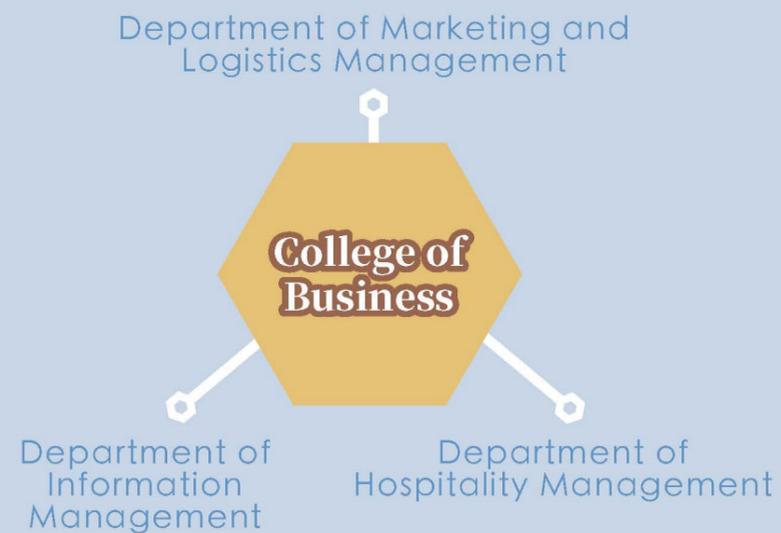

Language Proficiency Requirements:

To qualify for a formal bachelor's degree program, students are required to attain the Basic Level (A2) of the Test of Chinese Proficiency (TOCFL) in both listening and reading comprehension by the end of their first year of Mandarin Chinese preparatory studies.

✧ Students who do not achieve the TOCFL A2 proficiency level will be withdrawn from the program and must leave Taiwan. The student will be responsible for all transportation costs and other related expenses associated with returning to their home country.

Prior to entering the second year of the bachelor program, students must achieve the Intermediate Level (B1) in TOCFL proficiency. Students who do not meet the B1 level will be required to take additional Mandarin Chinese courses while continuing to pursue their undergraduate coursework until they meet the B1 standard.
