

College of Humanities and Social Sciences

Mission

Our goal is to cultivate a humanistic spirit and social concern, integrate technology and education, and foster individual holistic development.

Educational Objectives

We aim to nurture outstanding professionals with a career-oriented focus in English and Japanese language education, primary and secondary education administration, early childhood care, and intelligent welfare for seniors. We also equip our students with practical, cross-disciplinary skills.

We strive to cultivate students' proficiency in Japanese, Southeast Asian, or European languages as their second foreign language and enhance their overseas study and internship opportunities. This will broaden their international perspectives and improve their competitiveness in the global job market.

Our goal is to cultivate students' humanistic literacy and social awareness, focus on skill development and real-world applications in many industries, and balance technological and humanistic literacy. By doing this, we can promote the holistic development of individuals and address the challenges of the digital age.

Features of Development

Digitization:

We have established an online teaching platform to encourage teachers to create multimedia online teaching material, Internet-Assisted Teaching, and distance learning. Notably, we have been cooperating with Waseda University on distance learning initiatives.

Technologization:

We have a comprehensive range of software and hardware resources, such as a microteaching laboratory, a self-learning center for foreign languages, and an English immersive learning classroom.

Internationalization:

We offer foreign language courses in English, Japanese, French, German, Spanish, and Russian. Additionally, we collaborate with partners to facilitate annual student exchange programs involving overseas studies and travel experiences.

Professionalization:

We have a well-established professional faculty that specializes in linguistics and education.

Practicalization:

We utilize a practical curriculum and teaching methods as well as a variety of proficiency tests and licensing exams.
